West Chester Medical Center to be renamed

West Chester Medical Center will be rebranded with University Hospital into a new system called UC Health, according to a report in the Hamilton Journal-News.

University Hospital said it now has the chance to push the community hospital into one that will evolve into academics as well, the report said.

UC will be the last original member of the Health Alliance and therefore take 100 percent interest in West Chester Medical Center as of March 31.
