

BAE wins $10M contract with U.S.

The Enquirer • May 11, 2010

WEST CHESTER - BAE Systems' plant here has won a $10 million U.S. government contract to provide armored commercial SUVs and pick-up trucks. The company, which has had to trim about 600 jobs this year because it is winding down military armoring contracts, said it couldn't disclose the number of trucks designed to be indistinguishable from unarmored vehicles, but said the work would begin late this year with first deliveries in 2011.

"With the current growth in areas of conflict, we are seeing global demand for commercial armored vehicles continuing to keep pace," said Don Dutton, vice president of BAE Systems' security & survivability business.

Advertisement

Mom Dilemma #36:
Your daughter insists on wearing her princess costume to the grocery store. Allow it or not?

YES, at least she's dressed!

NO, I have some rules!

momslikeme.com
where Local moms meet

Print Powered By  FormatDynamics™