

What's New in West Chester!

INNOVATOR IN PLANT-BASED PROTEINS ON THE MENU IN WEST CHESTER

Planterra Foods, a start-up company specializing in plant-based foods, is setting up shop in a 26,629 square-foot facility at 113 Circle Freeway Drive in West Chester.

“We’re all about bringing new plant-based proteins to the table,” said Darcey Macken, CEO of Planterra Foods. “Something that works for everyone.”

Planterra Foods, marketed under the name OZO, is found in retail stores and restaurants, focuses on flavor with food high in protein and fewer calories and less saturated fat than many other meat substitutes.

Macken says the company is all about innovation with delicious food made from a pea-based recipe, rather than soy; and a shitake mushroom formula that provides a protein alternative that is healthier and better for the environment.

Planterra Foods started business in October 2019 in Lafayette, Colorado and quickly became a subsidiary of meat giant JBS. The company has grown quickly by appealing not just to vegetarians, but to flexitarians looking for healthy options.

The pandemic kept everyone home cooking more and Ms. Macken said Planterra Foods products were well suited to the home chef appealing to all tastes and creating a wonderful aroma while cooking. Planterra Foods plans to be operational at the new West Chester facility quickly with 150 employees and producing several million pounds of food each year.

“We’ll be expanding manufacturing of the OZO line at the West Chester plant and will be looking for a team of great employees in the coming weeks,” Ms. Macken said. “When the opportunity for the space became available we were really happy with the proximity to Kroger. It all just came together for us and we’re ready to get started.”

West Chester’s location, ease of access and diverse local economy make it an appealing location for businesses of all sorts. Companies like Planterra Foods have symbiotic relationships with other companies like Kroger; and West Chester provides the infrastructure to bring them all together, said West Chester Community Development Director Aaron Wiegand.

“West Chester welcomes innovators and Planterra Foods will be a great addition to our corporate community,” Mr. Wiegand said.

WELCOME TO THE NEIGHBORHOOD: THE COMMUNITY FOUNDATION MOVES TO OLDE WEST CHESTER

Someone new moved into the Olde West Chester neighborhood, but The Community Foundation of West Chester & Liberty is an old friend everyone already knows.

The Community Foundation purchased the restored home-turned commercial space at 8897 Cincinnati-Dayton Road at the corner of West Chester Lesourdesville. The move was made possible by the generosity of Park National Bank and Harvest Financial, according to Erin Clemons, President & CEO of the Foundation.

“Purchasing property demonstrates that we are 100 percent invested in the community and sustainable for the long term,” said Ms. Clemons. “Choosing a place in one of the community’s oldest commercial neighborhoods builds sense of permanency.”

The Community Foundation occupied donated office space at Park National Bank for six years, allowing the Foundation to reach this milestone. Harvest Financial, previous owner of the new location, made the purchase of the historic property possible for the Foundation without taking on the burden of debt.

The Community Foundation of West Chester/Liberty began in 1999 around a kitchen table with a group of dedicated community members focused on the needs of the growing region. Since then the Foundation has lived its mission of “transforming generosity to impact by encouraging, supporting and facilitating philanthropy to create a more vibrant community.”

The annual Shamrock Shuffle serves as the Foundation’s largest annual fund-raising event and brings the community together for a united purpose.

RETAIL SUPPLIER FOR CORRECTIONAL FACILITIES CHOSEN WEST CHESTER FOR EXPANSION

Walkenhorst's, a supplier of mail order and online retail products to inmates at state prisons across the country and headquartered in Sparks, NV, announced plans to establish a logistics and distribution operation in West Chester Township. Walkenhorst's will create 60 new jobs and create $2.2 million in new payroll at the new facility—the company's first location east of the Mississippi River, REDI Cincinnati announced in December.

"We are excited about opening a new distribution center closer to many of our high-growth areas," said Josh Walkenhorst, president of Walkenhorst's. "Ultimately, getting our products closer to our customers will allow us to offer faster ship times and provide better customer service."

Walkenhorst's has experienced steady growth during the last few years and identified the need for a location closer to its clients in the Midwest and east coast to cut shipping times. Walkenhorst's considered several other locations for the new logistics and distribution facility, including Pittsburgh; however, the Cincinnati region emerged as the clear choice because of its proximity to customers and competitive costs. With many in-person visits at prisons being canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Walkenhorst's is doing its best to help the incarcerated population by making delivery more convenient and efficient. With its new operation in West Chester, Walkenhorst's will be able to serve more customers with faster service and alleviate the strain on capacity at its Nevada facility.

"With 60% of the U.S. population within a one-day drive from the Cincinnati region, Walkenhorst's decision to grow in West Chester means it will be able to serve its growing market presence with ease," said Brandon Simmons, REDI Cincinnati vice president of project management. "We appreciate the partnership with JobsOhio and the Ohio Development Services Agency to support Walkenhorst's growth."

A JobsOhio Economic Development Grant and Job Creation Tax Credit from the State of Ohio will support Walkenhorst's growth in West Chester.

About Walkenhorst's

Walkenhorst's is a private family-owned business and has been in operation serving correctional facilities for over 35 years. Walkenhorst's partners with many Departments of Correction throughout the country, including Alaska, Arkansas, California, Louisiana, Maryland, New York, Ohio, Virginia, and West Virginia. Walkenhorst's offers a comprehensive selection of consumer goods, including name brands, in the corrections care package market. They provide practical solutions allowing inmates to order or family and friends to send packages to their loved ones, through customized programs that fit the needs of the facilities they partner with.

WEST CHESTER CARES: Small Business Grant Program Supports Businesses Impacted By The Pandemic

The West Chester Board of Trustees approved the grant program in November and accepted applications through mid-December. Funding for the grant program came from legislation enacted by the federal government that was then distributed to the state for this purpose. The State of Ohio distributed the money to the counties and Butler County distributed funds to each community based on population.

West Chester was able to award grants to 19 eligible applicants totaling $183,071. The average grant awarded was $10,000. The West Chester Cares Small Business Grant Program provided West Chester Township small businesses with some monetary relief from economic hardships caused by COVID-19 business interruption. West Chester utilized $286,000 in CARES Act disbursement from Butler County to fund the program.

West Chester: Built With You in Mind

West Chester is a proven destination for corporate investment displayed by the expansive growth over the past two decades, yet development opportunities still exist throughout the township with commercial sites of 1 to 60 acres still available. Office, manufacturing, research and properties with accessible infrastructure, frontage on I-75 or within two miles of an interstate interchanges are available.
